

Energy

For the past 15 years, Adaltys has had a team exclusively dedicated to the field of energy and its markets, in gas, electricity and heat.

We assist our customers, both private and public, throughout the entire energy value chain.

Our approach is comprehensive, expert and operational, involving a strong complementarity between our private and public law teams.

Our ambition: to be the French law firm of reference in the main themes surrounding energy transition, right up to its most complex and innovative aspects: smart grids, green hydrogen, self-supply, consumption cut-off, green mobility, market mechanisms.
