

Public Ownership

Thanks to its team and its multi-disciplinary approach to public law, Adaltys has developed a particular expertise in public ownership issues involving numerous cross-cutting subjects (real estate, public procurement, urban planning, development, the environment, inter-municipality, administrative and criminal liability, etc.).

Adaltys has thus been assisting clients for many years, including local authorities, local and state public institutions, as well as public companies and companies holding service or works concessions.

Adaltys assists its clients, in both advisory and litigation matters, on all their issues relating to public assets and public works, as well as to private assets. In particular, the firm advises its clients on their development or complex arrangements involving public assets.

Adaltys also represents its clients in disputes relating to the public domain or public works.

Combining a national presence with strong local roots, Adaltys provides each of its clients with dedicated and tailor-made support to provide concrete and operational legal solutions to meet their expectations and objectives.
