

Research - Higher Education

Our firm works alongside all those involved in research and higher education, both public (research organisations, universities, public interest groupings (GIP)) and private players, particularly in the areas of continuous professional training, apprenticeships and work-study programmes.

Our range of interventions is particularly extensive in this field, from the management of public procurement and personnel management issues to the implementation of innovative structures and complex PPP-type contractual arrangements.

We are also involved in bringing educational structures closer together or developing them internationally, in particular through access for foreign students, opening establishments abroad and setting up partnerships.
